About the Program

Bioenergy has always been an important energy source, considering the benefits it offers. It is renewable, widely available, carbon-neutral, and capable of providing firm energy. Bioenergy-based technologies have the potential for entrepreneurship development and employment generation. About 32% of the total primary energy use in the country is still derived from biomass, and more than 70% of the country's population depends on it for its energy needs. This programme aims to contribute to the cause by training the young generation and motivating them towards entrepreneurship development by implementing their ideas for enhancing the efficiency of the technology, popularizing the technology, and increasing its acceptance.

Possible Outcome

- Interest generation in areas of bioenergy.
- Entrepreneurship and startup development in these areas
